ROCKET Labs

BUILDING A LEGACY OF CREATIVITY IN BALTIMORE CITY

Rocket Labs is projecting to be the turning point of access to creativity and creative careers for the people of Baltimore City and beyond! Rocket Labs would be home to several creative entities that work with small businesses and creators in the city and surrounding areas! Primarily housing Vintage Thrivals, an innovative sustainability-based clothing company that takes discarded clothing and turns them into 1 of 1 wearable pieces, combating the creation of waste made by fast fashion companies. As a home to Vintage Thrivals, not only will patrons be able to shop the available pieces, but they can also donate used clothing to be used to create pieces or be given to local impact groups that the space will partner with to make sure the communities in need are serviced directly.

Also inside, Rocket Labs will be home to the Rich Rocket Media Content Studio and classroom, where local creators can come and collaborate, create, and explore new ways to make content. Creative professionals can teach valuable skills to community members and patrons, giving the community access to new creative tools!

This classroom will also be used to connect the city's youth to creative career paths, as we plan to partner with local educators to create programming that will allow students to expand their creative reach within the space! This space will be a part of the revitalization of Baltimore's creative culture and be a mainstay in the legacy of the artists that captivate the world and call Baltimore home! We need your help to realize the full potential of this piece of history!
